GREEN AVIATION CASE STUDY - INVITATION

WXP Asia is a research-based competition focused on the latest aviation innovations. Participants work on real cases and collaborate with experts in aeronautics and astronautics. Past editions included mentors and partners from CAE, ICAO, Airbus, and Boeing, offering a chance to learn directly from industry leaders.

Participants gain:

- Research-driven aviation innovation
- Interdisciplinary team collaboration
- Expert-led training and feedback

This experience changed how I see my career.

– Grégoire Trinh Ngo, Year 1 Winner, Attended Cheng Du ICGA Conference, visited Airbus HQ

For institutions:

Delivered fully online, the program removes travel costs and scales easily, allowing broader student access to a high-impact, global experience.

Prizes: IAGA generously supports annual travel to the International Conference on Green Aviation.* *Exceptions may apply based on region and availability.
